

Accident Prevention Seminar

8 October 2007, Keyll Darree, Education and Training Centre, Strang

This event is for Government employees and voluntary organisations that have an interest in accident prevention.

Most accidents and injuries are preventable whether they occur in the home, at work, on the road or during our leisure time.

Accidents and injuries can have a devastating affect, leaving people to cope with bereavement, disability, or facing the consequences of their actions, that may have caused harm to others. However, in the majority of cases these accidents could be prevented with the right interventions and there is considerable scope for these to be reduced.

This multi -agency event will raise awareness of accidents, incidents and injuries that occur in a variety of settings and look at the interventions that can assist in reducing the number of unintentional injuries to the Islands population.

There will be no charge to attend this event, places will be based on a first come first served basis, please complete the application form attached.
